THE STATE CAPITAL.

SFECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE HERALD. Election of Matthew T. Brennan us Police Commissioner in Joint Convention of the Senate and Assemby—Auditor of the Canal Board.

Last night the republicans of both branches of the Legislature assembled in caucus in the Assembly Champer with a view to nominating a republican candidate for Police Commissioner, and actually felt too weak or too modest to put a candidate in nomination without balloting first for nominees. It was one of the tamest proceedings that could be imagined, and resulted in the nomination of Ira Buckman, Jr. The pin set up, however, by them last night was knocred down this morning by the hallot in the joint convention of the Senate and Assembly. At the independent ballots of the two nouses Brennan was chosen as the saudidate of the Assembly, and Buckman by a very slim majority of the Senate; but when it came to the final vote Brennan triumphed by a majority of twenty-four in the two houses. A large number of New Yorkers was present, evidently having come up for the purpose of "assisting" at the affair. Little laterest, however, was manifested in the proceedings, as it was as conclusive that "Brennan was the man" when he got the Tammany nomination as after the ballot to-day, consequently the "edge" had wern off.

The Governor to day nominated to the Senate for Auditor of the Canal Department Colonel J. B. McKean, of Saratogs, in place of N. S. Benton, the present incumbent.

The chief stillman, named James Brough, was first discovered after the explesion. His body was in a terribly mangied condition, and perfectly unrecognizable. AMUSEMENTS.

ACADBAY OF MUSIC-ITALIAN OPERA .- The first gun of the great operatic war of the present season was discharged at the Academy last night. Max Strakesch was the gunner, and the target was an im-menso quantity of stockholders and the profuncts mense quantity of stockholders and the profusions unique, all arrayed in opera closks and satin. The boxes, stalls and dress circles of the Irving place opera house were crowded, and frequent were the plaudits and bouquets. A Mr. Verd sumplied the opera, we venerable "Trovatore," and the great attractions were the truly great La Grance "10 an inminished personation of the unfortunate Leonors; Miss Adelaids Phillips, who seems to have been marked out by nature as a Tevengeril gypay; the designing Grandial, who surpassed bituself in his attempt to portray the wicked Count do Luna, and Brignoli, who represented the perplexed lover in his own peculiar manner. La Grançe is indeed great in the "Trovatore." Every aria and restative received its due dramatic treatment at her hands, and to the immortial Miscorers scene she showed that she was the brightest star of the operatic firmament. The "Trovatore" seems to be gifted with perpetual youth. There is not in the wide realm of Italian opera another work which is more dramatically treated, and in which there are more popular and artistic points. The ordestra was enlirely too loud last night, and drowned some of the best numbers in the opera. Mr. Nicoleo should tone down his increased force in order to give the singers a chance of being heard. "Traviata" will be given to night and "Rigoletto" on Friday. Thus Vetid reigns this week at the Academy, and the two hundred and fifty stockholders smile beneficently on the profusions well such that throng towards Irving Hall. Meanwhile Pike preserves a masteriy inactivity until Monday next. Then Eighth avenue will be astir. OLYMPIC THEATRE —Sometimes an actor or actress, like a manager or a California gold digger, makes a lucky hit and thereby makes a fortune. Sothern as Lord Dundreary, Owons as Solon Shingle, the "Menken as Mazeppa," and a bost of others might be cited as illustrations of this encouraging fact. But altogether, perhaps, the most gratifying axample of a well merited success of this kind is Miss Maggio Mitchell, in the never failing attraction which she has made of poor Fanchon and other characters in that particular line. Last night, after a good run of "Fanchon," she appeared in the equalty popular companion piece of "Little Barefoot," a sort of "little Oliver" in pottlocats, and, as usual, the bill attracted a well filled house, up stairs and down stairs and standing round the circle, and all were dolighted. The appliance fairly wone by Little Barefoot was heartily given. Miss Mitchell was effectively supported by Mr. Fox, who is good in pretty much anything he undertakes, and by Mr. Collier, who is steadily gaining ground in popular favor. The whole performance in all its details, in lact, contributed to strengthen the leading character in its fine points and situations and to bring them out into clear and fine relief. "Little Barefoot" is "a paipable hit," and will be repeated this ovening, to-morrow evening and in Saturday's matinee, Miss Mitchell in her illustrations of the important truth that virtue and goodness will vindicate themselves even mand.

Stranwar Halt.—Me. Murabocu's Readings.—Mr. Mur-

STEINWAY HALL-MR. MURDOCH'S READINGS. -Mr. Murdoch, at each successive reading, meets with a larger and more enthus actic audience. Last evening he re-peated the selections already given by him from Oliver adding others from Dickens' "Pickwick Papers" (the Shooting Party), Sir Walter Scott's "Bride of Lammeradding others from Dickens' "Pickwick Papers" (the Shooting Party), Sir Walter Scott's "Bride of Lammermoor" (Lucy Ashton and Edgar Ravenswood), and Shakspeare's "Julius Cessar" (the orations of Brutus and Antony). The inter selections particularly were read with asionishing power. Mr. Murdoch realizes a prediction which was ridiouled when first uttered several years ago, that the time would come when Shakspeare would be effectively rondered and applauded even without any of the usual accessories of the stage; when one accomplished reader, or more than one, could safely and successfully appeal to the imagination of an intellectual audience, without scenery, costume or other theatrical paraphernalia. It is no small triumph for a single reader to call up before the miad's eye a whole some, comprising all its actors, with their respective traits of individuality; but this has be in attained by both Mr. Murdoch and Mr. Dickens. The latter, however, is rather a story teller than a reader; admirably as he recites it cannot be said in strictness that he reads, when he scarcely ever glances at the page in the book before him. We have seen his closed book fall scridentally from his odd-looking desk without interrupting at all the flow of his reading. The increasing popularity of readings and recitations like those of Mr. Dickens and Mr. Murdoch indicates a healthy reaction against the rage for spectacular extravagances, which has threatened to invade even the Shakspearian drama. Mr. Murdoch gives his fourth-reading to night, at Steinway Hail.

Notice to Mariners.

Metice to Mariners.

HAMSACHUMSTISS. WWW.CAYPOST HAMSON LIGHTS.

The Newburyport Herald of Monday asys:—We would call the attention of the Lighthouse Board to the importance of changing our lighthouses to the opposite side of the 'basin' or outer beach. As they are new located, they are a very poor guide for the mariner to run in by at night. They now range from the bar WSW, whereas if they are changed as above indicated, so that they would range west from the bar, even strangers would find no difficulty in running into our harbor in the night time.

ARE YOU BILLIOUS?

Muittindes of both sexes will answer this question in the affirmative, for, next to disorders of the stormach, liver complaints are perhaps the most prevalent and internal disciplination of the stormach in the result of the stormach in the result of the stormach in the result of the stormach in the right side, pain between the shoulder blades, sick headache, lassitude, mental winness, lack of appretite and irregularity of the bowels. Whoever recognizes this diagnosis as applying to his own condition may be quite certain that more bile exists in his blood and less passes through his bowels than is expedient for his health, and that his liver requires toning and regulating. One of the special uses of HOSETTEA'S BITTERS is to meet just such exigencies as this. Its tonic principle rouses the liver from its torpor, and its apprient element gently relieves the intestinal canni of the accretious consequent upon an insufficient supply of nature's actiantio—the bile.
